

Asks Council To Authorize $140,000 City Bond Issue

Requests Referred to Aldermanic Committee—No Action Taken to Investigate Charges Against Edelmuth—Tax Collection in Two Installments—Other Matters Before Common Council Tuesday.

Two requests that the common council authorize bond issues totaling $140,000 were made at the regular monthly meeting of the council Tuesday evening and were referred to the finance committee and the laws and rules committee. The first bond issue was to raise $40,000 for the board of public works, which has already expended $27,000 of the proposed issue, and the $100,000 was to be used by the work relief committee on a series of proposed projects. Mayor Carey, who was present at the meeting, believed the council should take a recess of five minutes to give the two committees a chance to report that evening, but President C. J. Heiselman ruled that granting bond issues for $140,000 should not be hurried but slept over, and that a delay of from seven to eight days would make no material difference. President Heiselman said he would call a special meeting within that time so the council could act on a proposed local law fixing the collection of the general city tax in two installments.

Mayor Carey's Letter.
Mayor Carey sent in the following communication, which was read by City Clerk William C. DeWitt:

Office of the Mayor
City of Kingston, New York
Eugene B. Carey, Mayor
December 3, 1932.

To the Honorable, The Common Council of the City of Kingston, N. Y.

Gentlemen:
Attached hereto is a certified copy of a resolution of the Board of Public Works, requesting that the sum of $40,000 be raised to carry to conclusion the certain improvements and betterments of a permanent nature, consisting of pavement of certain streets, as referred to in my communication to you under date July 27, 1932.

Unemployment in the City of Kingston was at its height during this year and I feel that the Board of Public Works has carried on this year, in a very commendable manner, their attempt to relieve the unemployed situation and that the streets within our city that have been built this year stand out as a specimen of very good work. About the 15th of May the program of the Work Relief Committee was finished due to the lack of funds and from then on it was picked up by the Board of Public Works. On the 15th of May, the Board of Public Works carried 252 on their pay rolls, and the amount increased every two weeks until it reached the grand total of 683 on the 15th of October. From then on it declined until today the Board of Public Works has only 173 on its pay roll, practically every position being occupied by two men, working week on and week off. While I dislike at this time to ask the council to appropriate additional moneys, it is necessary so to do for the purpose set forth.

I most emphatically draw to your attention the fact that the Board of Public Works is not asking one cent for ordinary maintenance and repair, nor for the completion of any part of its work provided for in this year's budget. The Board of Public Works this year has lived within its budget, and on November 1st had a balance to its credit of $40,488.36 with which to carry on during the months of November and December, and with no bills over thirty days old.

Besides carrying on in the usual way, the board paid about $15,000.00 of unpaid bills not provided for in this year's budget, built Center street and Tremper avenue, finished Hasbrouck Park for the Work Relief Bureau, built a new Tennis Court, dredged three sewer outlets in Rondout Creek, rebuilt playground fixtures and painted all buildings. A complete story of all their work is in the course of preparation.

A financial statement of the Board of Public Works, as of November 1, 1932, is attached hereto, showing a balance of $40,488.36 to the credit of that account.

Respectfully yours,
EUGENE B. CAREY,
Mayor.

$40,000 Bond Issue

The resolution referred to by the mayor in his communication was adopted by the board of public works at its last meeting and asked that a bond issue of $40,000 be authorized for that board, bonds to bear interest at a rate not to exceed 5 per cent. Of the $40,000 the board has already expended $27,000 and will use $4,000 more to erect a building to house the board's machinery.

The request for the bond issue was referred to the finance committee and the laws and rules committee.

Now $127,000 Was Spent.

The 1932 bond issue of $100,000 which the board has spent was expended as follows:

State Relief Grants Kingston $15,000 Above Usual 40%

Assumes City Will Spend About $75,000, Which Will be Re-bated to City to Amount of $45,000 or 60 per cent.—Money Must Be Spent Before February 1, 1933—Will Relieve Situation Here.

To help the city of Kingston meet its unemployment relief problem, through funds of the $20,000,000 relief bond issue, the State Temporary Emergency Relief Administration, which is composed of Harry L. Hopkins, Charles D. Osborne and John Sullivan, has allocated to the city, in addition to the usual 40 per cent reimbursement, $15,000 for wages for approved work relief projects. Contemplating a local expenditure of $75,000, this constitutes a 60 per cent refund to the city of Kingston, or $45,000. This allocation is from special funds provided by the first $15,000,000 of the relief issue. The money must be spent between November 15 and February 1, 1933. In informing Matthew H. Herzog, chairman of the city of Kingston Emergency Work Bureau, of the direct grant, Mr. Hopkins said: "The administration is confident that you will exercise every precaution to see that these funds are expended on behalf of families that have been investigated and are in need of relief."

This additional state aid was given to the city of Kingston after careful study of its unemployment relief needs.

For the period of November 15 to February 1, 1933, $15,000,000 of the relief bond issue became available for state aid to cities and counties in their relief problems. $12,000,000 of this sum to be used in payment to cities and counties for 40 per cent of the Home and Work Relief they give to their needy unemployed.

The administration is particularly interested in cities and counties placing unemployed men to work this winter. Work Relief, the administration believes, preserves the work habits of the unemployed and their independence, while at the same time it is a constructive effort in producing local improvements. In other words, Work Relief has a twofold aim in helping the unemployed and in accomplishing needed public improvements.

Demonstrators Turn Homeward Satisfied

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP).—Truck after truck headed into the west and south today, carrying the last of the shouting, singing demonstrators for unemployment relief over the long, tedious miles to their homes.

With a final cheer at the police who had confined them to a pavement encampment for three days, the men and women piled into their vehicles, stowed away blankets and said they were satisfied with the showing they had made.

Police vigilance was not relaxed until the last truck had gone, and then, weary from almost continuous duty since Sunday, the hundreds of Washington bluecoats sought their rest.

Every available police marched with the cheering and jeering demonstrators yesterday from their roped-off camp to the Capitol grounds and back again. Strong lines held the marchers outside the grounds while select committees presented relief demands to Vice President Curtis and Speaker Garner.

Five of their number were left behind in hospitals today, ill with pneumonia. They had been sleeping in a vacant house without heat.

SOVIET NON-COMMITTAL ON JAPANESE PROPOSAL

Tokyo, Dec. 7 (AP).—A Japanese proposal that Russia, Japan and Manchukuo act in "close cooperation" for peace along the Soviet-Manchurian border was disclosed by the foreign office today together with the assertion that the Moscow reaction was non-committal.

This information was made public a few hours after Rengo (Japanese) News Agency dispatches reported Japanese troops had entered Manchuria, a far northwestern Manchurian city near the Soviet border.

The foreign office said the Japanese Charge D'Affaires at Moscow, Eiji Amoh, in compliance with instructions from Tokyo, had proposed cooperation in the Manchurian frontier district. This proposal was made "in view of the military situation in the Barga area (far northwest Manchuria)."

SLIGHT EARTH TREMORS IN ADIRONDACK MOUNTAINS

Saratoga Lake, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP).—Slight earth tremors jarred the Adirondack Mountain area last night, but caused no inconvenience more serious than putting out of gear the sound apparatus in a motion picture theatre here.

The shocks, felt shortly after 10 p. m., were general throughout the hills. They were accompanied by a sound like that of distant thunder.

Christmas Tree Downtown Erected

The big Christmas tree erected annually by the Downtown Business Men's Association, at the corner of Broadway and West Strand, is in place for the coming holiday season, having been put up Tuesday, and will presently be decorated with colored electric bulbs by Michael Gallagher, downtown electrician.

It is expected that the tree as in past years will bring much joy to the little folks of the downtown section as well as add the Christmas spirit to the business district in the vicinity of the Strand. The custom of erecting a big Christmas tree was started by the downtown merchants in 1926.

Sales Tax Issue Is Tossed Squarely Back Into Lap Of Congress

Secretary of Treasury Declares Present Excise Taxes Have Failed To Produce The Expected Revenue And He Proposes Their Repeal.

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP).—The turbulent sales tax issue was tossed squarely back into the lap of Congress today by Secretary Mills with a recommendation that a 2 1/2 per cent general manufacturers levy be adopted.

In his annual report, the Secretary of the Treasury said the present specific excise taxes adopted at the last session of Congress had failed to produce the expected revenue and he proposed their repeal.

Mills directly asked the House to reverse itself. Only six months ago, that body bolted its leadership to vote down a one and three quarters per cent sales tax, and the issue was not even brought to a vote in the Senate.

Drastic reduction in governmental expenditures was insisted upon by the Secretary, who predicted that the present fiscal year would end next June with a deficit of $11,146,000,000 and the following year, at the present pace, with a deficit of $307,000,000 exclusive of debt retirement. He said government spending could be reduced by $479,000,000 in the 1934 fiscal year if recommendations made by the President in his budget message were followed.

Mr. Mills asked Congress to retain the one cent gallon tax on gasoline, which was to be effective only until next June, saying if it was continued for another year it would provide an additional $137,000,000 of revenue, reducing the estimated deficit by that amount. It is not feasible, he said, to provide for resumption of the normal reduction of the public debt in 1934 but urged that otherwise the budget be balanced.

Proposes General Excise Tax

His recommendation was: "That those excise taxes which experience has demonstrated are relatively unproductive and give rise to serious administrative difficulties be repealed, and that there be imposed a general manufacturers' excise tax substantially in the form appearing in the bill originally reported by the ways and means committee of the House of Representatives during the last session of Congress."

"It is estimated that such a measure with the 2 1/2 per cent rate will yield about $355,000,000, assuming a full year's collections, thus making possible the elimination of a number of the unsatisfactory and relatively unproductive new excise taxes," he pointed out, and that there be imposed a general manufacturers' excise tax substantially in the form appearing in the bill originally reported by the ways and means committee of the House of Representatives during the last session of Congress.

"The view of the misunderstanding as evidenced in the congressional debates of last winter, I must emphasize that I am not recommending a general sales or turnover tax with the inevitable pyramiding of the tax, but a manufacturers' excise tax, imposed at one point only."

Mills did not name the new taxes he would like to see repealed but said the taxes on brewers' wort, on bank checks and recreation admissions had produced much less than had been expected.

The secretary said that while it had been estimated last May that the income of the government for the 1933 fiscal year would amount to $2,098,000,000, revised estimates indicated they would total $2,624,000,000. He said customs duties now were estimated at $220,000,000, a drop of $60,000,000 from the May estimate; income taxes at $850,000,000, a drop of $176,000,000; brewers' wort at $10,000,000 a drop of $72,000,000; bank checks at $45,000,000, a drop of $33,000,000; and admissions at $21,000,000, a decrease of $23,000,000.

Government receipts were estimated for the 1934 fiscal year from all sources at $2,949,162,713 and expenditures at $3,790,425,200. For the present fiscal year he estimated that receipts from all sources would amount to $2,624,256,692 and expenditures to $4,268,888,400.

Expenditures Must Be Cut

"However difficult and painful it may be," Mills told congress, "government expenditures must be drastically cut when, owing to extraordinary circumstances, the government finds that within a comparative short period its revenues have been cut in half with little prospect of substantial improvement in the near future."

"In a period of deep depression, with the income of the people greatly reduced, with their buying power drastically curtailed, and with millions deprived of their earning capacity, it is not only unwise but impossible to bridge the gap in the budget entirely by increased taxation. There is no other course for the government to follow but the one to which individuals and business enterprises are driven under similar circumstances, that is, to endeavor to live within its income."

Mills recommended that when money advanced the Reconstruction Finance Corporation is repaid it be applied to reduction of the public debt. Such action would reduce by approximately $1,049,000,000 the increase in the public debt in recent years.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP).—Treasury receipts for December 5 were $12,218,351.38; expenditures $30,938,240.85; balance $559,596,312.14. Customs duties for five days of December were $2,214,359.78.

Roosevelt To Confer With Lehman Tonight

Albany, N. Y., (AP).—Governor-elect Lehman goes to New York tonight for the conference with Governor Roosevelt at which the scope of the problems of municipal economy and any other matters to be presented to the extraordinary session probably will be determined.

Relinquishing his duties as acting governor with the return of Mr. Roosevelt from the south today, the lieutenant governor prepared to discuss with his chief the fiscal problems pressing New York city and some upstate municipalities which have asked legislative aid in clearing away legal barriers from salary reductions for municipal employees.

President Hoover Presents Drastically Reduced Budget

Democratic Heads Frame Beer Bill

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP).—Democratic House leaders today confidently undertook formulation of a beer bill which they expect to submit for action probably next week.

More than two score of witnesses were summoned to give their varied views at hearings before the ways and means committee on the dozens of proposals to fix the alcoholic content of legalized beer and the tax rate.

One bill, introduced by the veteran legislator, Representative Collier of Mississippi, and sponsored by the Democratic leadership, formed the basis for drafting a measure to amend the Volstead act. It provides for 2.75 per cent beer by weight, and a levy of $5 a barrel of 31 gallons of beer, and a tax of 20 cents a gallon on light wines.

Estimated by Collier and other party chieftains to return $300,000,000 annually in revenue, this proposal was one agreed on by President-elect Roosevelt and fellow Democrats at a conference here as necessary if an extra session of the new Congress in the spring is to be avoided and as a help in balancing the federal budget.

A rocky course lies ahead. Already it is apparent that all of the 272 members who voted favorably in the spectacular Democratic attempt to rush prohibition repeal through the House Monday, will not support modification, while the 144 who opposed it plan to hold their ground. However, it requires only a majority of either house to secure beer legislation, compared with a two-thirds majority necessary for adoption of a constitutional amendment.

ROOSEVELT RETURNING TO DUTIES AS GOVERNOR

Aboard Roosevelt train enroute to New York, Dec. 7 (AP).—With twelve days of study of national problems back of him, Franklin D. Roosevelt today thrust aside the role of President-Elect to return to that of Governor of the State of New York.

Speeding northward to take up the duties at Albany, Mr. Roosevelt gave thought to his message to the special session of the New York State Legislature that opens on Friday. With him was Judge Samuel I. Rosenman, who journeyed to Warm Springs several days ago to bring him information regarding the state of New York city finances and the reasons for calling a special session.

During his stay at Warm Springs, the President-Elect talked with more than a dozen members of Congress, each of whom brought him their own ideas of what the Democratic program should include and went away with their conception of his own program.

COOLIDGE AND GROUP TO STUDY TRANSPORTATION

New York, Dec. 7 (AP).—The new national transportation committee headed by Calvin Coolidge intensified its survey of the nation's entire transport situation today. It expects to hear suggestions from 15 organizations in a busy, three-day hearing.

The automobile industry had prepared its case and had men present to give its ideas on how the vast transportation business should be coordinated. Prominent among the spokesmen were representatives of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce.

New Italian Liner Repaired

St. John's, N. F., Dec. 7 (AP).—The Canadian press said today that the new Italian liner Conte Di Savoia, reported disabled 600 miles off the coast of Newfoundland, has been repaired and is proceeding toward New York.

Europa's Skipper Died Early Today

New York, Dec. 7 (AP).—Capt. Nicholas Johnsen, 63, skipper of the North German Lloyd Line's giant speed liner Europa, died at 2:45 a. m. today in Bay Ridge Sanitarium of complications following an attack of appendicitis.

The hard-bitten commander, veteran of sailing ship days, stuck to his post, despite severe pains, until last Saturday, when he collapsed and was operated on while the ship was making a westward crossing of the Atlantic.

When the vessel arrived Monday he was taken to the hospital.

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP).—President Hoover presented to Congress today a drastically reduced budget, recommending a 2 1/2 per cent manufacturers' excise tax, retention of the gasoline tax, rigid economies, including an additional 11 per cent cut in government salaries, and a big slash in veterans' benefits.

He asked for total appropriations of $4,218,808,344, saying net expenditures would total $3,236,331,900 against receipts of $2,949,162,713—leaving a deficit of $287,192,187. It was to offset this that the new taxation was proposed.

No mention of war debts was made in the entire presidential message, but the report of the secretary of the treasury, sent to Congress simultaneously, disclosed that payments due from foreign nations had been included in striking the government's balance.

Neither did Mr. Hoover make any mention of legalization of beer. Estimated internal revenue collections included no figure from this source.

The president estimated the present fiscal year would end next June with a deficit of $1,146,478,507, expenditures being $3,770,735,000 and estimated receipts $2,624,256,693. Of this deficit he said:

"Such a situation can not be continued without disaster to the federal finances."

"I can not too strongly urge that every effort be made to limit expenditures and avoid additional obligations not only in the interest of the already heavily burdened taxpayers but in the interest of the very integrity of the finances of the federal government."

Would Cut Veterans' Benefits

In his veterans' economy proposal the president defied those clamoring for bonus payment and maintenance of present benefits, by recommending to Congress legislation which would strip $127,000,000 worth of pensions, compensation and allowances off the rolls. This would be done by limiting all benefits, except to ex-soldiers with claims based on active service at over 65, to persons with a net income, if single, of less than $3,500. Wholesale re-examination of those now on the rolls would be followed by removal at the end of six months of all not qualifying under the new terms.

Many specific forms of benefit would be reduced, including compensation to veterans receiving hospitalization, and stringent administrative regulation would limit further additions to the rolls. To cover his proposals for new tax and economy legislation the President in his message departed from custom, gave a list of appropriations as recommended in the budget itself, and flanked it with his own further reduced figures. Without his veterans and pay cut savings, estimated reductions in expenditures totaled $397,553,000. With those included, $581,923,000 was trimmed below the actual appropriations for the current fiscal year.

New Tax Proposed

The new tax proposed by the President—essentially the same manufacturers' sales tax advocated in Congress last year but extended to include everything except food at a flat 2 1/2 per cent—was estimated to yield $355,000,000. Continuance of the one cent tax on gasoline, which unless re-enacted would end next June—was estimated to produce $137,000,000. The total of $492,000,000 would cover the estimated deficit for the year.

The government pay cut proposed would affect all income above the first $1,000 of annual wage or salary, saving an estimated $55,999,000. It would be imposed in addition to the present 30-day payless furlough which constitutes 1-3 per cent salary reduction.

The pay cut recommendation was accompanied by a draft of legislation to put it into effect. This provided that all government-owned corporations impose similar cuts on their employees.

Except for a few miscellaneous projects, no provision was included for additional projects in the government's huge building program. The President said the $100,000,000 authorized under the emergency relief act of the last Congress had taken care of all additional public construction now needed.

The budget provided $386,477,000 for national defense, as compared with $632,466,000 last year. It carried $39,788,129 for rivers and harbors work, a reduction of $20,116,371; and $40,000,000 for the federal aid highway system. Mr. Hoover said no more than this should be allotted to highway aid until the treasury is in better condition.

The President said appropriations for public works in his budget were less than those for the present year. "Speaking generally of public works, this program is well in advance of the country's immediate need by virtue of the vast appropriations made for this purpose as a means of increasing employment. The authorization of large programs of self-liquidation works to be financed by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation provides aid to employer without burden upon the taxpayer."

When the vessel arrived Monday he was taken to the hospital.

Washington, Dec. 7 (AP).—Treasury receipts for December 5 were $12,218,351.38; expenditures $30,938,240.85; balance $559,596,312.14. Customs duties for five days of December were $2,214,359.78.

$140,000 Bond Issue

Alderman Epstein introduced an ordinance that the sum of $100,000 be raised by a bond issue, the money to be used by the emergency work relief committee in a series of proposed projects. The ordinance was referred to the finance committee and laws and rules committee. Alderman Epstein asked that the council before adjourning take a five minute recess to report on the two bond issues, but President Halseiman ruled that both could be held up until the special meeting to be called within seven or eight days for the purpose of acting on a local law providing for collection of city taxes in two periods.

Want Zoning Change

A petition that the property on Wrentham street at Albany avenue be placed in the business zone by amending the zoning ordinance, was referred to the laws and rules committee.

Tax Collections

The laws and rules committee reported that it had under consideration the several charter changes proposed by the Kingston Taxpayers' Association and would report on them later one at a time. At this time they submitted a proposed local law for the collection of city taxes in two installments, February and June, leaving the school tax to be collected as at present.

The proposed local law cannot be acted on for a period of at least seven days, and President Halseiman said he would call a special meeting at that time to consider action on it.

Rejected and Accepted

On the recommendation of the corporation counsel, the claim of John Augustine to recover damages for a broken spring in his auto was rejected, and the claim of Fred Hafer for $25 for damages to his house by reason of blasting on Montrose avenue was ordered paid.

City Accepted Deed

The city accepted the deed from Uster county for land on the Boulevard to be used in improving that street. The deed was ordered recorded.

No Officer Available

Chief of Police J. Allan Wood sent in a communication in regard to a recent resolution introduced by Alderman Long that a policeman be stationed at Newkirk and Hasbrouck avenues during certain hours on school days to protect children from School No. 3. The matter had been taken up by the police board, which did not feel it could afford to hire a special man to do that work and no regular officer was available for the job. The work of patrolling is now being done by the school patrol and it was doing efficient work. The communication was filed.

No Action on Edelmuth

A communication was read from the Kingston Taxpayers Association stating that organization wanted to go on record that if the charges made by President Schmid against Commissioner Edelmuth of the public welfare board were true that the council take action toward removing Edelmuth.

No Second to Motion

Alderman Schwenk moved that the chair appoint a non-partisan committee to investigate, but the motion was not seconded and so could not be acted upon.

Edelmuth Had Lawyer

Commissioner Edelmuth was present at the meeting and was accompanied by his attorney, Arthur B. Ewig, who was given the privilege of the floor and said that as no charges had been preferred in writing against him, he would not be investigated by the council. He was prepared at any time to answer any written charges that might be filed against him.

Other Members Present

President Schmid and Commissioner Lange the other two members of the welfare board were also present but were not called upon. President Schmid said he was present in case the council desired his presence, but that neither he or Commissioner Lange had been requested to be present.

File Communication

As there was no second to Alderman Schwenk's motion to appoint an investigating committee the chair ordered the communication from the taxpayers' association filed.

Motions and Resolutions

The council introduced the following resolutions which were referred to the proper city boards and departments:

Alderman Doherty—that board of public works flood lot on Mary's avenue, opposite the cemetery, to provide skating and winter sports for the children of that neighborhood.

Alderman Neice—that board of public works build a new road on south side of Greenkill avenue, across the Walkkill Valley tracks.

Alderman Epstein—that holes in Hasbrouck avenue, Strand, Meadow and Murray street be filled in; that Ann street be oiled.

Alderman Sullivan—that culvert on North street at foot of Willow street, be cleaned; that open sewer on Delaware avenue, between Crane and Abruzzo streets, be cleaned out; that fire hydrant on Delaware avenue at Cordis street be moved back; that caution sign or light be placed

Nothing secret about this modern, new way of taking medicine. Just plain common-sense, putting it in chewing gum because, like food, a laxative needs to be chewed to insure even distribution throughout the digestive tract. And that's essential for thorough, gentle action without the gripping so common with pills and salts. Feen-a-mint is delicious—as safe for children as grown-ups because it's harmless and non-habit-forming. At all druggists.

LOCAL BOY ON STAFF OF BUFFALO NEWSPAPER

Walter C. Van Buren, resident of Kingston and now attending State Teachers College at Buffalo, has accepted a position on the staff of the Riverside Review, a community newspaper published in the interests of the residents of the Riverside district of the city.

Walter will be the Boy Scout correspondent for the paper, and in that capacity will gather all the Scout news of the district. He is at present Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 73 and a member of the Buffalo Boy Scout Press Club. He has been interested in journalism for some time and has written a few articles for two of the leading daily papers in Buffalo. He is also a reporter on the college paper, "The Record".

Glass Stoppers

Glass stoppers in bottles will almost always break off if forced when they are stuck. Wrap a cloth wrung out of hot water around the neck of the bottle and continue these applications until the stopper is released.

"I don't like speed—but I want the 100-mile-an-hour oil!"

"ME—I like to drive around 30-miles-an-hour. But I want my oil to be that 100-mile-an-hour oil—Gulf Supreme!"

"Why? It's as simple as ABC. The oil that can take the punishment of 100-miles-an-hour is a better oil! It's a better oil at ANY speed—from 10 to 80!"

"It gives you more of what every oil should have. Extra richness . . . extra protection against wear . . . extra stamina!"

Gulf Supreme has proved its amazing "fighting qualities" in two of the stiffest tests an oil could get . . .

It successfully lubricated a special test motor developing nearly twice the heat of the average speeding engine—for 14 consecutive hours!

And it amazed racing drivers by outperforming special "racing oils" at the Indianapolis Speedway! In a torpedo-like Duesenberg racer, it circled the track at speeds almost as great as two miles a minute! Under Official AAA supervision, it made an average speed for this one-hour non-stop run greater than 100-miles-an-hour!

Start now to use Gulf Supreme. Because it can take super-punishment, it will save you money, minimize repairs, and lengthen the life of your motor!

WARNING!

To Demonstrate Economical Meals

Miss Lillian Shaben, specialist in food preparation, from the State College of Home Economics, will be in Kingston Thursday afternoon to give the third and last lesson in "Low Cost Meals". The meeting will be held in the central Hudson Gas and Electric Corporation, 611 Broadway, beginning at 2 o'clock.

Miss Shaben in this demonstration will discuss economical holiday cookery. She will demonstrate that Christmas dinners can be attractive, nutritious and appetizing even though they may have to be prepared at low cost. An attractive table will be set demonstrating the use of native material for center pieces for holiday tables.

Local leaders from Home Bureau communities will repeat the lesson in several communities and are expected to be present to take the lesson from Miss Shaben. The meeting is open to all ladies of the city and county who wish to attend and a large group is expected for this unusually interesting demonstration.

J. PAUL-BONCOUR ASKS CONCILIATION

Geneva, Switzerland, Dec. 7 (P)—The first task confronting the League of Nations assembly in the face of the Sino-Japanese conflict should be an attempt at conciliation, Joseph Paul-Boncour, French delegate, told the assembly today.

He said he thought the assembly should proceed with the Lytton report including both its facts and conclusions, as a basis for further negotiations.

If conciliation is not successful, Mr. Paul-Boncour said, the report would furnish a guide for the next step in the assembly's deliberation.

The speaker, however, avoided taking any definite position regarding the Lytton report, which criticizes Japan's activity in Manchuria. Meanwhile Spain joined four other small nations in demanding that the League assembly accept the Lytton report.

REPUBLICAN TURKEY IS NINE YEARS OLD

National Consciousness Is Rapidly Developing.

Washington.—New Turkey has just celebrated its ninth birthday anniversary at Ankara (Angora), the capital on the Asia Minor plateau which superseded intrigue-infested Constantinople, long the capital of the old empire. A bulletin from the National Geographic society outlines some of the forces that have been shaping the new republic.

"After nine years of strenuous reforms, the Turkish republic, because of world-wide depression, has a breathing spell in which to take stock," says the bulletin. "The apathy of its enemies and neighbors enabled it to escape partition. Fatalism, combined with the paucity of desires by the Turkish peasant, has been a constant drag on progress."

"Great strides have been made in developing national consciousness among the variety of peoples who are combined under the government of the Ghazi (the Conqueror). The first great step was the freeing of the country of its enemies, a military operation through which the Ghazi, Mustapha Kemal Pasha, gained political leadership. A complete separation from the Ottoman dynasty and the Caliphate, leading to democratic forms of government and a segregation of religion and government, was another important step."

"The country is wide, the population scanty, the state of education and literacy low, communications inadequate. These factors have added to a native inertia against which Turkey's leaders have labored with striking results."

Turned to Western Ways.

"The fez was abolished in order to prepare the Turk, through western dress, to ally himself with western thought. The visor of the cap, which became the popular head covering, could be reversed so that the forehead could touch the floor in prayer; but nonetheless a sharp cut was made with the past. The veil was not abolished, but those who abandoned it were favored."

"Another milestone was the adoption of the Latin alphabet. The old Arabic alphabet was closely related in thought with the Koran. With the advent of 'New Turkish,' the Turkish republic moved closer to all nations using the Latin alphabet, but severed a strong bond with religious forms. Not only had Turkey's alphabet been that of the Arabs and Persians, but many of the words were of foreign origin. A strong movement is under way to employ Turkish words and free the language of foreign vocabulary, but at the same time the study of foreign languages, chiefly French and English, is being pushed."

"The Ghazi, who entered into the campaign for New Turkish through many informal personal contacts and direct personal encouragement, has recently been directing a study of Turkish history. Under his personal direction the Turkish History Research Commission has compiled a four-volume world history in which Turkey has a larger place than ever before. This world history, written from the Turkish viewpoint, is to be taught in the Turkish schools. Thus the Ghazi hopes to tie the depressed present to a glorious past and a hopeful future."

Roads and Railways Extended.
"Ankara (formerly known to the West as 'Angora'), has become a wonder capital. Mushroom speed has been combined with careful planning and a worthy capital is rapidly taking shape in the heart of the arid Anatolian plateau."

"Lack of funds is slowing up the ambitious program of railway and road building on which the Ghazi's government had started, but steel bands and better roads are slowly binding the country regions together. For centuries, a great trade route by way of Trebizond (Trabzon) and Erzurum reached from Persia to the Black sea. Commerce along that historic highway had declined, but through an improvement in the road-bed, commerce is again to be lured back to its historic channel between highlands and sea, between caravan and camel."

"The Turk formerly was averse to participation in trade or commerce, and many professions were in the hands of foreign residents. But many trades and professions are now restricted to Turks, and from harbor and waiter to tailor and stock broker, the Turk is being encouraged to look to his own people for aid."

"The state has taken over many industries not only because of a lack of individual initiative but also from a desire to train the people in new pursuits."

"The United States occupies a peculiar place among Turkey's chief customers, since we spend three times as much for Turkish tobacco, figs and mohair as Turkey spends for American products. New industries are being fostered in the republic and the visitor with a taste for foreign foods is finding life harder or more expensive. Turkish foods, candies, tinned preserves, and even sugar and chocolate are supplanting world-famous brands."

"World-wide depression, slowing the material change, has not only forced Turkey to foster home industries and bar importations from the West, but has also given the Turk time to appraise the changes of the last decade."

Pasting Oilcloth

If you want to paste oilcloth down on shelves, buy a pot of good library paste and use with very little water added. Put the paste on the shelf, not on the oilcloth, and, with a cloth in your hand, smooth out every crease as you go along.

BLACK BEST COLOR FOR WINTER SEASON

Dull Lustered Satins and Velvets Are Popular.

Black is the outstanding color for winter garments, according to Margaret Morehouse of the New York State College of Home Economics.

After black, the most important colors for winter are those of autumn leaves; brown in various new tones, red in all shades, although the purplish shades of bordeaux and beet root are the newest for fall, then green.

Color in garments, as in everything else, is affected by the texture of the material. The fabrics of this year's smart materials have a rough surface. Silks and wools in rough crepes that range from the sheer to the heaviest are in style, as are tweeds and all shaggy, ribbed, and corrugated wools. Dull lustered satins and velvets are popular materials for fall clothing.

According to Miss Morehouse, some of the interesting details of dresses this year which help to modernize the present wardrobe are: the use of contrasting materials such as plaids, stripes, and figures combined with plain colors; tricky collars and cuffs of pique, cotton, silk, rough crepe, or shark skin satin of interesting new designs.

The effect of the whole costume, however, is the most important thing to consider, Miss Morehouse said. Well dressed women are beginning to realize the importance of having in their wardrobes a few well chosen garments which suit the personality of the wearer, are appropriate to the occasion for which they are to be worn, and are combined with proper accessories to complete a harmonious design.

WITH A WEE VEIL

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

The little afternoon hat without its dainty veil is the exception and not the rule this season. To be sure the veil may be a mere will-o'-wisp affair. In fact most of them are very subtle and tiny, but as allusive as they may be, they perform wonders in softening harsh lines and adding a nicety of appearance. The chic velvet turban at the top is worn at that sophisticated angle which is so alluring, and the veil?—well, it's there even if you have to look twice to see it. The melon topped sailor is styled with one of the new and exceedingly becoming square-meshed veils.

STYLE NOTES

Fancy turns to gloves with ornate cuffs.

Checks are good style both for coats and suits.

Necklines mount higher as the season progresses.

Lace evening gowns are commanding attention.

Many wool dresses button all the way down the front.

The demand for little shallow-crowned sailors continues.

Short sequin-covered sleeves enliven black velvet evening gowns.

Young girls are wearing gray fur jackets with bright green or red dresses.

Veils, Worn Short, Are Now Popular Fashion

Turbans are cleverly draped and have a dashing youthful look. All hats are worn high at the back, disclosing a good bit of the hairline, and dip at least over one eyebrow. In sailor versions the telescope crown is one of the newer themes.

For more formal wear there are all sorts of little affairs exposing the hair not only at the side but between cross bands. These usually are worn with a short flaring veil, or sometimes with a maline halo brim.

The veil, following the slantwise line of the hat, is seen everywhere. It is always worn short, and is usually stiffened a bit to make it stand out.

Doing It Up Brown

A stunning brown costume consists of dress of brown wool and waist-deep cape of brown astrakhan made with silks for the arms to go through. A tiny muff to match goes with this. Other accessories are also brown.

Too Much Protection

Muriel, aged seven, had been to visit a little friend of hers who seemed over-provided with fuzzy relatives. "Mama," she said on returning home, "I feel sorry for Nadine, she's got so many look-after-hers."—Boston Transcript.

the WORLD of STAMPS

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Freeman today presents a new weekly feature on stamp collecting. It will appear every Wednesday.)

By QUINTON JAMES

Mussolini's effigy appears for the first time on Italian postage stamps—two specimens of the commemorative series of 20 stamps recently issued on the occasion of the Fascist Decennial. One of them shows him a-horseback.

Sixteen of the stamps are for ordinary mail, from five centesimi to five lire; two for special delivery, two for airmail.

The stamps exhibit "action pictures" of the accomplishments of the first decade of Fascism—the reclamation of the swamps, the foundation of the juvenile organizations, the militia, the corporative state, the development of sports, recreation, colonies, army, navy, aviation, archaeological excavations. One stamp is devoted to religion, another to Italians living abroad, two to the Fascist exposition.

The five-lire stamp is sold at 7.50 lire, 2.50 of which goes to Fascist charities. The stamps are good for mailing purposes up until December 31, 1933.

Another Von Hindenburg

Collectors interested in portraits can now add another of Paul von Hindenburg, president of Germany. On the "Präsidentenmarken" issue, brought out to commemorate his recent eighty-fifth birthday, the profile of the president appears as a medallion or plaque in the center of the stamp.

The Hindenburg commemorative issue of 1927 shows him full-face, as does the issue of 1928, in which his picture alternates on the various values with that of the late President Ebert. The portrait of 1928 makes him look a bit more venerable than that of the year before, while this year's seems to express ageless strength.

The issue is comprised of the following values: 4 pfennig, light blue; 6 pf., green; 12 pf., orange; 15 pf., carmine; 25 pf., dark blue; 40 pf., violet purple; 50 pf., chocolate brown.

Esopus Residents Inherit.

New York, Dec. 6 (Special)—Margaret T. Murphy, Agnes Murphy and James Murphy of Esopus will each receive a fifth of the estate left by a cousin, Catherine O'Gorman, according to a report filed by the State Transfer Tax Department in Surrogate's Court, Brooklyn, today. Miss O'Gorman, who died March 26, without leaving a will, left an estate which was appraised today at $9,421 gross value, $6,847 net. The estate is divided among five cousins. Theresa F. Murphy is administratrix.

Neolithic Razor

Believed to be at least 10,000 years old, a razor was found by M. Dharvent, a French archaeologist, in a sand quarry at Montevallée-Amiens. The instrument has a handle and blade like a modern razor. It was discovered in a Neolithic bed amongst a number of other instruments, all of which date back to about 8000 B. C.

An Apple a Day

New York State's apple crop this year is estimated at 20,000,000 bushels. Thousands of bushels will rot because of a lack of sufficient consumer demand. Take advantage of the situation—use the apple recipes which will appear in each issue of this paper—cut them out for future reference.

APPLE RINGS AND BACON
Select firm, tart apples. Wash and core, but do not peel, the apples. Cut them in rings or slices about 1/4 inch thick. Place the rings in a frying pan (do not crowd them) with a small amount of bacon fat, and sprinkle them with brown sugar. Add just enough boiling water to cover the rings. Cover the pan and cook the apples until tender, browning them on both sides. Lift them on to a hot platter, and serve them with a border of crisp bacon.

These recipes are compiled by the experts of the New York State College of Home Economics, at Cornell University, Ithaca, and others, and are made available through Consumers Information Service of the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets.

Kingston: "Scarlet Dawn." A story of the Russian revolution in which one of the aristocratic young blades finds it necessary to move out of the country in a hurry, taking his former serving maid along with him. They marry, and begin seeking existence in a strange land. There are complications in the story before all turns out happily. The Russian nobleman is played effectively by Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Nancy Carroll appears on the screen after a long absence in the role of the serving girl. Lilyan Tashman is well cast as a former sweetheart of the Russian nobleman.

Orpheum: "Bad Girl." The famous novel from the pen of Vina Delmar is transposed to the screen with pleasing results. This picture was the one that gave James Dunn his start in climbing the Hollywood ladder of success, and also made a featured player of Sally Eilers. It's the story of a boy and girl who marry and work together for their happiness.

Broadway: "Those We Love." Mary Astor, Lilyan Tashman and Kenneth MacKenna are the principal players in this domestic drama that has its good points. The action and acting is favorable, and the plot is a little different than ordinary.

Ritz: "Okay America" and "Sea Ghost." The first feature is one of the very best melodramas to come to the screen in some time. Lew Ayres comes into his own as a Broadway scandal newspaper columnist, who proves his worth to society before the picture is ended. There is action every moment in this show, and some splendid acting by Ayres, Laureen O'Sullivan and Henry Armetta. "Sea Ghost" is a mystery thriller of the sea.

Tomorrow

Kingston: "Pack Up Your Troubles." Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, those two grand comedians, are a sure cure for the doldrums in this, their first full length comedy. It concerns two gentlemen of leisure, who suddenly find themselves in the army. There is a laugh every minute of the show, and the antics of the two stars are a riot. Here is a tonic for the blues. A fine supporting cast makes the comedy the more enjoyable.

Orpheum: "Fireman Save My Child" and "Dynamite Denny." Joe E. Brown is the star of the first double feature, a story of a small town boy, who is the inventor of a fire extinguisher. He is also a wonderful baseball player, and the big league sends for him. Between baseball and his love of fires much damage is done. This comedy is another Joe Brown hit. "Dynamite Denny" offers Jay Wilsey and Blanche McHaffey in a railroad story.

Broadway: Same.

Ritz: Same.

U. S. Owes Miss Dough?

St. Joseph, Mo.—Weight plus wait doesn't necessarily mean more avoirdupois. A St. Joseph postal clerk learned. When a baker put a package of bread in the postoffice, the clerk found it lacked sufficient postage. The bread was held overnight and the baker notified. When he appeared yesterday, the bread was weighed again. There was a surplus instead of a shortage of postage. The bread had dried out overnight.

TRICKS of MAGIC EXPLAINED by Will Lindhorst

THE MAGIC PIECE OF VELVET

EXTRA PIECE SEWED IN CENTER IS DROPPED AND—

CARD PASTED ON BACK IS SUDDENLY REVEALED TO AUDIENCE.

Prepare for this trick in this manner: Get two pieces of velvet, one about 10 by 15 inches, and the other just half that size. Sew one edge of the small piece across the center of the large so when the cloth hangs the small piece will overlap the lower half of the large. Paste a playing card on the front of the small cloth, then grasp the lower corners and fold it upward so the card will be between the cloth and hidden from view. Take it this way before your audience, display both sides, and announce that you intend to make a card appear on the cloth. Stand away from the audience, and turn the cloth around so the overlapping piece will be facing you. Then release its corners, let it drop, and the card will come into view. Quickly turn it to the audience, and presto, the card appears on the velvet.

Harriet—I hear Imogene Nelson is to be married Christmas.

Brown fell victim to the crossword puzzle craze. He neglected his meals, his business, his family, for the insidious squares. His principal diet became the end of a pencil and his hair was torn out in handfuls during the search for chemical compounds in four letters and antipolean mammals in five. In his sleep he raved about "Part of a railway engine" and "Native of an eastern country".

One evening he came home and discovered a note from his wife on the dining room table:
Dear Clarence: Since your life is centered in the solution of crossword puzzles, here is one that I have made up for you:

- 1.—A pronoun of one letter.
- 2.—To possess, with four letters.
- 3.—Verb with four letters.
- 4.—Place where people live.
- 5.—Preposition.
- 6.—Female relative.
- 7.—Girl's name.

Eagerly he concentrated all his wits on the deciphering of this intriguing puzzle, and at last he solved it as follows:
"I have gone home to Mother—Mary".

Her father married her mother for the bread she made. Her sister wants to marry her for the dough she's got.

Neighbor—Why?
Woman—The painter gave it three coats last week.

Which reminds us of the Scotchman who had a fever. When told he would be bed-ridden for at least several weeks, he ordered for a dozen hatching eggs.

Wife—I've got a lot of things I want to talk to you about, dear.
Husband—That's good. You usually want to talk to me about a lot of things you haven't got.

Prosperous times are those in which almost everybody has a few thousand dollars to lose bucking Wall Street.

Tired Club Woman (to her husband as she arrived home about 7 o'clock one evening)—Got a good supper ready, honey?

Recruit—I know that sir, but I'm just counting my money before you put me under gas.

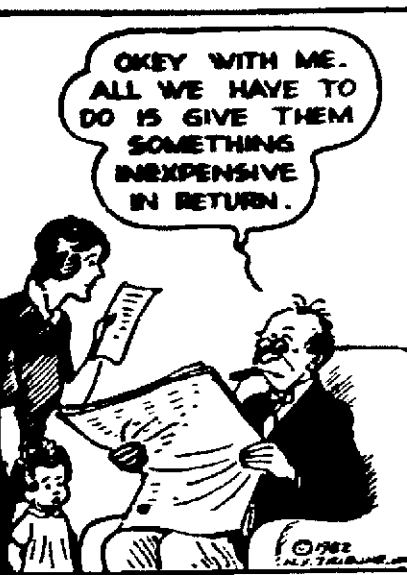

What has become of the old-fashioned woman who used to say a kiss without a mustache was insipid?

Daddy—Don't you think you're a pretty big boy to ask for a dime?

SANTA and the MAGIC DOLL

by SIGRID ARNE

SYNOPSIS: A lazy Gnome sentenced to make Toyland's most beautiful doll obtains the aid of the Snow Princess and fashions a doll named Inga. Santa imposed the sentence because the Gnome had made Pinocchio an ugly clown.

CHAPTER III
Inga Meets Santa

The Gnome was a little afraid that Santa wouldn't think his doll so beautiful. So he hid her outside and went into the Toyshop to announce that he was ready to show what he had made.

"Bring her in, bring her in," Santa said. "I'll collect all the dolls and fairies. We'll let them decide." When all the people of Toyland had gathered under the huge Christmas tree in the center of the workshop the Gnome led in the beautiful Inga. She didn't know why they were all there, but it was such a gay-looking company that she burst into the prettiest smile and made a low curtsy to them.

"Hoorah!" shouted the Tin Soldiers. "The Gnome wins." "Hoorah," shouted the other dolls. "Toot-toot," blared the horns, and "Tinkle-tinkle" sang the pianos. Santa had to cover up his ears, there was so much noise.

And all the while, poor little Pinocchio was standing in a corner, saying to himself: "Just look what a beautiful doll that Gnome can make, and to think he made me as ugly as I am."

He looked so forlorn that Inga noticed him and she wanted to make him happy. She walked over to him and took his hand, saying, "I know who you are. You can make people happy when all the rest of us fail."

Pinocchio was so embarrassed at being noticed that he turned quiver and traced a pattern on the floor with the point of one of his shoes.

"Hoorah for Pinocchio," shouted

Inga, the Beautiful, was given a throne in the Toyshop, and Pinocchio sat at her feet telling her funny stories.

and to think he made me as ugly as I am."

He looked so forlorn that Inga noticed him and she wanted to make him happy. She walked over to him and took his hand, saying, "I know who you are. You can make people happy when all the rest of us fail."

Pinocchio was so embarrassed at being noticed that he turned quiver and traced a pattern on the floor with the point of one of his shoes.

"Hoorah for Pinocchio," shouted

the soldiers. "Do a dance," cried the dolls. So the little clown swung into one of those loose-jointed dances of his until it looked as though he'd lost an arm or a leg, and the whole toy-shop rocked with laughter.

Inga smiled, but she didn't laugh. Maybe it was because the Snow Princess had helped make her. She seemed to see a little farther into the hearts of the toys around her. Dolls have hearts, you know.

Inga knew that Pinocchio was dancing because the dolls liked to see him, but she also knew that underneath his funny red and yellow suit he felt like crying.

So while he danced she wove a little tiny wreath of mistletoe leaves and when he finished she put them around his head, and said, "This is for the King of Good Hearts." And Pinocchio, like the true gentleman, fell on his hands and kissed her hand, just like a Knight.

All the dolls thought it was very pretty, but Santa's face softened and became very kind because he understood what Inga was thinking.

"The Gnome has done very well," he said. "Inga will be our queen."

So everyone was happy, and the Gnome was happiest of all because it meant that he was not to be banished to the Ice Kingdom.

Inga was given a little white throne at one end of the long Toyshop and there she smiled down on all the rest, with Pinocchio sitting at her feet telling her funny stories.

WEST SHOKAN.

West Shokan, Dec. 6.—The community Christmas social season will be continued by a series of weekly Saturday night dances to be held at the Bridge Hall, beginning December 10, sponsored by the members of the social committee of Shokan I. O. O. F. Lodge, No. 491. Music will be furnished by that merry group of farmers, Frank Constable's band.

The regular Sunday school session at the Community Church was well attended. The topic under discussion proved a real interesting one, "Living With People of Other Races." The opening hymns were, "I Have a Savior," and "Have You A Friend Like That." The keynote of the lesson was the golden text, "Love one another as I have loved you." At the conclusion of the lesson, it was decided to buy new song books, as the ones now in use have served their purpose for many years. Next Sunday's topic will be "The Christian's Use of Leisure."

The Thursday evening gathering of the members of Olive Rebekah Lodge, No. 470, was distinctively featured with the conferring of the Rebekah degree by the recently formed and fully robed team upon the following class of candidates: The Misses Alberta Gordon of Broadhead, Marion Davis of Olive Bridge and Ethel Rikert, teacher of the Winchell District School. Olive Rebekah Lodge although the youngest in Ulster county is fast assuming a position as one of the leading and most active lodges. Tentative plans are being worked out with the members of the attending committee of Shokan I. O. O. F. Lodge for the joint holding of a Christmas party providing entertainment for members of both lodges and their families, especially the children.

The delightful weather, with its growing new moon doubtless added to the attendance at the Saturday evening session of Shokan I. O. O. F. Lodge, which was the largest of the autumn season. Among out of town members present were Irving Corbush of Stone Ridge and Simon Bishop of Wittenberg, both past noble grands, and the latter a veteran of 50 years membership. Mr. Bishop, who is the last survivor of the family of twelve children of Jacob Bishop, Olive's famous blind miller, spoke of his keen joy at being present and how that every Saturday night when time for lodge meeting rolls around he is present in thought although the distance intervening between his home prevents his being present. In person, Mr. Bishop formerly resided near Samsonville.

Although he did not intend to rebuild until spring the warm weather changed plans and Saturday Supervisor Chet Lyons of Ashokan had a whole gang at work digging the foundation trenches and building forms for his new garage, 30x36 feet, which overlaps the site of the barn recently burned. The sides and rear will be constructed of concrete blocks with wood front and doors. Storage place will be provided for eight cars. The construction of the building will be in charge of North Brothers, local contractors and builders.

Chevrolet dealers within the Tarrytown district will have their first peep at the 1932 car, which will be on display Thursday in White Plains. Chester Lyons, Ashokan dealer, with his sales manager, Charley Schupp, who are going down for the occasion, no doubt will return brimming over with keen enthusiasm over the promised masterpiece of General Motors art.

To Mrs. Edmund C. Burgher lady of numerous activities, again this year falls the honor and distinction of having organized a local chapter for Red Cross relief. The following impressive membership speaks well for her worthy efforts: West Shokan, William V. Colange, Judges Fred L. Weidner and Lester S. Davis, Mrs. E. C. Burgher, Mrs. Mabel Weidner, Mrs. Bertha Thompson, Mrs. Mabel Snyder, Mrs. Minnie Every, Mrs. Alice Bell and E. C. Davis; Broadhead, Master Irving Bell; Shokan, Mrs. Rennsaler Longyear and Lloyd Goldman; Kingston, Bert Knauth.

Among recent victims of the grip are Mrs. E. C. Burgher, Mr. and Mrs. William Jones, Mrs. Harold Constable, Mrs. Lottie Campbell, who is under the care of Dr. Quinn of Phoenixia, Ernie Constable, Mrs. Chase Davis and others.

The dinner consisted of everything from turkey to pumpkin pie. The affair was considered a very successful undertaking and everyone present had a most enjoyable time.

On Sunday morning members of the Hendricks family of Main street, accompanied by Mrs. Sarah Dwyer of West Shokan Heights with her charges, Walter Willow, Eddie Hight and small brother, attended Catholic services in St. Francis De Sales Church in Phoenixia.

All regret exceedingly to learn that Oscar Dudley of Brown Station, veteran D. W. S. gatekeeper, was taken very seriously ill on Thursday and is confined to his bed. Mr. Dudley is under the care of Dr. Harry Van Wagoner of Kingston. His many friends sympathize most keenly and wish for his speedy recovery. Mr. Dudley is one of the oldest local men in point of service in the employ of the city of New York.

The Ladies' Aid will meet at the church basement on Wednesday for their usual weekly quilting. It will also be as reported, the occasion of their annual business meeting and election of officers. With two quilts to be placed on the racks, the good ladies will be assured of a full day's activity.

Tidmarsh Holds Organ Recital

ELMER A. TIDMARSH

An organ recital and concert will be given under the auspices of the Men's Club of the Fair Street Reformed Church, Friday evening, December 16, at 8:15 o'clock.

Organist of the evening will be Elmer A. Tidmarsh, director of music at Union College and director of the Union College Glee Club. On the program will be Raoul Nadeau, baritone soloist, and well known to Kingston people by reason of his radio broadcasts and his former residence in this locality, and the Union College Glee Club under the direction of Mr. Tidmarsh.

Mr. Tidmarsh is well known to Kingston musicians and to the general public through his broadcasts from the Chapel of Union College and his numerous radio appearances as well as from his visits to Kingston, where he is director of the Mendelssohn Club of this city. In addition to being director of music at Union College and head of the Glee Club of that college, Mr. Tidmarsh is organist and choirmaster at the First Presbyterian church of Albany and conductor of several musical societies. Among them are the Troy Vocal Society, the Schubert Club of Schenectady and the Euterpe Club of Poughkeepsie. He is leader of the Albany Community Chorus and broadcasts frequently from Schenectady.

Each summer Mr. Tidmarsh goes abroad and studies under the masters of Europe, where at Fontainebleau he continues his study of the organ.

Thirty members of the Union College Glee Club under the direction of Mr. Tidmarsh will make the trip to Kingston and participate in the program.

To Hold Armory Dance This Friday Night

Friday night the State Armory on Broadway will again be the scene of merriment with two games of basketball and a dance following, under the auspices of "A" Battery, 156th F. A. Those who attended last Friday night will attest to the wonderful time which was enjoyed by at least 400 people.

As before, a basketball game between two girls' teams will initiate the evening's program, followed by a game between "A" Battery and the Ashokan Cherokees who defeated Eddyville last week by the rather one-sided score of 90-19. In spite of their defeat by "C" Battery last week "A" Battery has progressed very rapidly and will give a good account of themselves Friday night.

At nine o'clock the Paramount Broadcasting Orchestra will start a program of lively dance music, which proved to be so popular last week. At 11 the second preliminary prize dance contest will be called. All except the winner of the first prize last week will be eligible to compete for the three prizes of $5, $4 and $3. It is expected that double the number which competed last week will enter the contest.

The dance last week was greatly enjoyed according to all reports. Something even better is on the program for this Friday.

Hurley P.-T. A. Meeting.

The Hurley P.-T. A. will hold its regular monthly meeting at the school on Friday afternoon, December 9, at 3 o'clock. The speaker for the afternoon will be Miss Harriet Dixon, assistant superintendent of the Kingston Hospital, who will speak on some phase of child health. All members are urged to be present.

Rectitude

Do not rely on heavenly favor, or on compassion to folly, or in prudence, or common sense, the old usage and main chance of men; nothing can keep you—not fate, nor health, nor admirable intellect; none can keep you, but rectitude only, rectitude for ever and ever.

BRING DOWN COCK FROM FRENCH SPIRE

During Stone Masons' Feast by Ancient Tradition.

New York.—American "human star" who today said it had to make money out of their exploits may borrow an idea from the French. The weathercock which tops the Cathedral of Senlis, France, which maintained its perch despite eight German projectiles which hit the spire in 1914, was recently brought down from its perch to fill the pockets of the men who climbed to it, writes Samuel Chamberlain in American Architect.

Four stone masons who were repairing the tower remembered the tradition that whenever the peak of the cathedral had been reached by a steeplejack, the cock (Le Coq Gaulois) could be brought down and passed from door to door as a means of exacting tips from home owners, and they did it. As this is the bird's first descent in 120 years, the custom has not been overlaid.

Twice in recent history an audacious alpinist has succeeded in climbing up the spiny surface of the spire as far as the rooster, without the aid of ropes or scaffolding. In June, 1931, an innocent-looking young man obtained permission to climb the wading steps leading to the bell tower. He dashed upward and passed through an opening on the highest platform before the startled sexton could catch his breath. Climbing like an ape from crocket to crocket, he finally reached the huge ball of copper which caps the masonry. By a heroic and almost suicidal effort, the climber got over this ball. Once on top of the ball the rest was easy. He performed a few gymnastics to the awestruck witnesses below, and then boldly unfurled the weathercock, strapped it on his back and crawled down to face the irate sexton. By this time all the population of Senlis was a gaping, horror-struck gallery including, unfortunately for the intrepid climber, the balliff who promptly clapped him in jail.

Pay French President 3,600,000 Francs Salary

Paris.—While the French government is devising economies and studying the possibilities of raising more revenue through new taxation in a desperate effort to balance its budget, the Paris Midi has conducted a private investigation into the salaries paid to public officials.

It appears that while French cabinet ministers receive a salary of 150,000 francs ($7,200) yearly, they cease to have the benefit of any allowance to which they may be entitled by membership in the chamber of deputies. They continue to receive 2,750 francs ($110) a month from the chamber, but this amount is deducted from their salary as ministers, so that they are paid for their cabinet labors only 12,250 francs ($490) at the end of each month, plus 4,165 francs ($166) for motor car expenses.

Should a cabinet remain in office only 48 hours—such cases have happened—its members are allowed two days' pay.

The president of the republic receives an annual salary of 1,800,000 francs ($72,000), paid monthly in advance, plus 900,000 francs ($36,000) for his household expenses and a like sum for traveling and other outlays incidental to his office. Even 3,600,000 francs a year is not excessive when the expenses are taken into account. Very few presidents have left office richer than when they were inducted.

Last of the Lawlors Quits St. Louis Police

St. Louis, Mo.—The "last of the Lawlors" is leaving the St. Louis police department, where a Lawlor has been on the force for the past 106 years.

One hundred and six years ago William Lawlor's grandfather joined the police force. Before the grandfather retired, William's father joined, and succeeding the father was William.

William's uncle, Michael, also was a member of the force.

Now, after 34 years on the force, the last of the Lawlors has turned in his resignation. "I'm going to California to raise oranges," he said.

Housewives Earn Cash Outside Home

Washington.—Of the American women responsible for the care of homes and families, 13.8 per cent had gained employment in addition to their household tasks, the fifteenth census disclosed, according to information made available by the Department of Commerce.

There were 28,405,294 families in the United States in 1920 reported as having "homemakers," and of these, 3,922,516, or one in every seven, had the homemakers gainfully occupied. Work at home accounted for 19.4 per cent of the total so occupied and work away from home for 80.4 per cent.

A small number did not specify the place of employment. Hired housekeepers were not counted as homemakers.

The largest proportion of homemakers with outside work, 24.4 per cent of the total gainfully occupied, were in the classification of "servants and waitresses."

THREE CASES IN POLICE COURT BEFORE CULLIOTON

Beulah Dawson, a negro, arrested on a charge of slashing Calvin Snyder, a negro, in the arm with a knife so badly that it required seven stitches to close the wound, was arraigned before Judge Culliton in police court today.

Her plea of not guilty caused the court to adjourn the hearing for two days.

William Hayes, a negro who said he lived in Dayton, Ohio, was arrested on a charge of panhandling on Broadway on Tuesday. He pled not guilty and the hearing was held open to give the police an opportunity to have the arresting officer present in court.

William Gilmore 36, who said he lived in New York city, was arrested Tuesday on a charge of public intoxication. He said he received a check every week from his sister. He had received one last Saturday and had spent it all but 14 cents, and expected another check to reach him at Newburgh on Saturday of this week. Judge Culliton sentenced him to 5 days in jail remarking that he would be out in time to receive the check.

Farm Bureau Employees Cut

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Ulster County Farm Bureau held Tuesday morning the directors voted a 14 per cent salary cut for the employees of the Farm Bureau for the year 1933. This action is in line with the action taken by county officials and the board of supervisors last week.

It is expected that the Home Bureau board of directors probably will take similar action when that board meets.

Miss Lavinia's Goblets

By H. LOUIS RAYBOLD

© by Mr. Louis Raybold. Reprinted by permission of the Kingston Daily Freeman.

"THERE he goes again," whispered Julia Bradley to her sister Martha, as she peeked through the tightly drawn lace curtains of their little parlor. "Third time this week. Now, what do you make of it?"

"Come out of this ice box," complained Martha fretfully, "and I'll tell you. There's nothing more to see now he's gone in."

The two shawled old ladies, both such victims of rheumatism that watching their neighbors and gossiping over them was the only social activity left them flung out to the more cheerful sitting room.

"I think," said Martha, "that Vinia has given up expecting Ben Cooper will get over his ten-year grouch and is setting her cap at this here old fellow from the city. Seems he's terrible well-to-do."

"Well," said Julia emphatically, "I don't blame Vinia, but what a city man can see in an old maid like that with his money and smart looks, he could get most anyone in his own town, for all his age—that's what gets me."

"Did anyone ever really know," queried Martha, "just what it was between the two of them that broke up the match and kept 'em not speaking to each other for going on ten years this spring?"

"Well, they say," said Julia, "it was something to do with those goblets of her grandmother's that Vinia sets such store by. She had the even dozen, until Ben up and broke one. They quarreled over it and one thing led to another—silly young things they were then—and well, you know as much as I do."

"Folks are queer, sister," said Martha complacently. "They sure are queer."

It was really unfortunate that the cold had driven the two old women from their post at the window quite so soon. Hardly had they settled out to the store than Ben Cooper walked slowly down the street, paused a moment at Miss Lavinia's clematis-hung gate, then continued on his way.

"Is it possible," Ben was thinking, "that I am going to see the only woman I ever cared a hoot for, walked off with by an old duffer from town? He's called there now half a dozen times. If what everybody tells me is true and that means business. What a fool I have been not to have pocketed my pride years ago!"

A few minutes later, the Bradley sisters were rewarded for repeated trips into the parlor by seeing the courtly figure of Mr. Thomas Wendell emerge from their neighbor's house across the street. They would have given much to have heard what he said as he lifted his hat to Vinia who stood in the doorway.

"I can count on your answer Wednesday without fail? I thank you."

That evening, well after dark, when Julia and her sister were peacefully knitting together, Ben Cooper made his way to Lavinia's. They knew nothing of his visit. Lavinia herself, when she saw his once familiar figure at her door, drew back with her hand, still white and slender, against her throat. "Why, Ben—" she breathed.

"It's me, Vinia," he said hoarsely. "I—I—er—that is, I just had to see you. May I come in?"

A moment later and he was seated stiffly on the edge of the long horse-hair sofa.

"Tell me, Lavinia," he demanded sternly, "is it true that you are going to marry that old fossil from the city?"

Lavinia gave an amused, throaty chuckle. "I don't know what business it is of yours," she said, "but I'm perfectly willing to tell you he's coming for an answer Wednesday."

"Wednesday," repeated Ben helplessly. "Wednesday." Then, with one single stride, he came over to her and picked her up in his two strong arms. "When he comes," he said harshly, "you tell him you're going to be married on Thursday to me. What fools we have been, Lavinia! What years we have wasted!" his voice broke and he pressed his head against Lavinia's hair, as Lavinia's two arms crept slowly up around his neck.

Wednesday, Mr. Thomas Wendell came for his answer, nor did it apparently displease him.

"I've dreaded to tell them, Mr. Thomas, for they were my mother's and her mother's before her. There were the twelve of them, but my fiancé accidentally broke one of them. I'm sorry to have kept you dangling for a price, but at last, seeing I'm going to be married, I guess I can use the money for my trousseau."

"Is that so?" said Mr. Thomas Wendell politely. "My congratulations, and I'm grateful to get the goblets."

"Funny," said Martha Bradley crossly, "how some people have all the luck. Not enough men to go round and Lavinia with two of 'em on her hands at once, now that Ben's come courting again, and some say they're going to be married tomorrow!"

"Listen to me, sister," said Julia sagely. "I wouldn't put it beyond Lavinia to have kept this city man on tenterhooks just to make Ben jealous. In a small town he was bound to hear that some one was calling on his old girl. I think she did it on purpose."

Martha laid down her knitting. "Julia," she said, slowly, "you said a mouthful!"

Early Polyglot Bible

COMFORTER MINSTRELS

PROVE A SUCCESS

The opening performance of the Comforter minstrels presented by the Men's Club was greeted by a large audience and was exceptionally well rendered by everyone in the cast. The songs were very snappy and many were obliged to enclose their numbers. Many comments were also heard of the last act, where a southern scene with old plantation songs was enacted. The scenery in the act was well done and was painted by a local artist, Ray Nickerson. Great credit is given him for his original ideas. The program will be repeated again tonight at 8 o'clock at which time the large Comforter hall is again expected to be filled to capacity. The program is as follows:

Opening Chorus—Plantation Melodies

ST. REMY

St. Remy, Dec. 7—Sunday services December 11 are as follows: Sunday school 1:30; church services 2:30 p. m. The Rev. James Cantline of Stone Ridge is expected to be present and address the meeting.

At the communion service on Sunday, 44 new members were received into the church.

On Thursday afternoon, December 1, the Ladies Aid and Missionary Society met in the Sunday School room to observe the 50th anniversary of the W. B. of D. M., also the 20th birthday of the local society. Members of the Port Ewen society were present and many of the ladies of the St. Remy congregation. Mrs. Lucas Boere brought greetings from her auxiliary and Dr. Lucas Boere gave a very interesting talk on his own experience of pioneer missionary work in some of the western states.

The Rev. Philip Goetz gave some helpful remarks. Beatrice Ellsworth and Virginia Van Vleet sang a duet. The candle exercise commemorated the work of the different domestic fields. The table was decorated with two birthday cakes with candles on.

Here Are the Country's Finest Fox Hounds

IF YOU are a lover of dogs—and most of us are—you will be interested in this photograph of the five champion fox hounds of the United States. The picture was made in Washington, where the hounds were competing in the meet of the National Foxhunting association. They are the property of A. G. Rolfe of Richmond, Va., and were bred and trained by R. L. Hays of Buckingham, W. Va. These dogs hold more championships than any other pack of fox hounds in the country.

The center of the table was adorned with lighted candelabra. The flowers were yellow chrysanthemums. Refreshments were served to 42 guests.

Uncle Abram Billingham and Aunt Mary Enderly, have returned to their home in this village.

At the regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the St. Remy Fire Department, a surprise shower was given to one of the members, who was greatly surprised when asked to open the packages. Many beautiful gifts were received and a delightful luncheon was served by the ladies. Those present were Mesdames Philip Fischer, Sr., J. Blarvis, K. Krom, G. Schneider, W. Hoelderlin, S. Spohrer, G. Koch, H. Ellsworth, Richard Hoffman, F. Gerritson, R. Wells, H. Murdock, H. Miller, P. Fischer, Jr., S. Barnett, C. J. Frost, also Mrs. B. Miller, F. Van Vleet and H. Van Vleet as guests. A very enjoyable evening was had by all.

The Ellsworth family attended the supper and entertainment at the Rondout Presbyterian Church on Tuesday evening.

It Troubles You

Sometimes it's easy to do a mean thing and get a big profit from it. It troubles you, however, and you never forget it. Months or years you'll think of it and cringe. It's much better to have some one else's poor opinion than to have your own contempt.—Grit.

Will This Winter Be Like 1931-32?

The mild weather that has prevailed for several days past leads residents to wonder if this winter will be as mild as that of last year when the Hudson river was open all winter and not a pound of ice was harvested from either the river or the Rondout creek. What little natural ice was harvested was from small streams, and last summer the supply was soon exhausted and householders used artificial ice in their ice boxes.

So far this winter there has been but little cold weather although for several nights the thermometers dropped as low as 15 degrees above zero, but the weather soon moderated.

About the Folks

Joe Van Aken from New York City is visiting his brother, S. T. Van Aken, in Ulster Park, and sister, Mrs. Corbett, in Kingston.

Miss Peggy Kearney and brother, Thomas, also Sam Bujak, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Knickerbocker and daughter, Mrs. Linda Geiger, of Ulster Heights.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 7 (AP)—Bulls, encouraged by the successful short squeeze late in the previous session, were more enterprising in today's stock market than they had been in some time.

The market modestly extended its gains of yesterday, while some of the more popular trading favorites were churned about in fast-sized blocks. On the whole, however, it was up-hill work. Oil, mail order shares, some of the rails, and miscellaneous industrials were firm spots.

Issues up 1 to nearly 2 points included Standard of N. J., Texas Corp., U. S. Steel, Allied Chemical, Case, Air Reduction, and United Aircraft, while advances of major fractions to a point appeared in Montgomery Ward, Pennsylvania, New York Central, Southern Pacific, and others. American Telephone and Union Pacific, strong spots yesterday, made little further progress.

Gold mining issues eased, and American Water Works dropped 1 1/2 on reduction of the dividend.

American Water Works cut its annual dividend rate to $1 from $2. While the action was not unexpected, it brought some selling into the issue. Selling of the gold mining issues evidently reflected the better tone of sterling exchange, and of commodity prices.

The rails seemed to respond to indications of a fair pickup in freight volume, after the sharp loss of the Thanksgiving Day week.

The latest theory advanced for the reported shifting by Union Pacific of an investment of 100,000 shares of New York Central into shares of Pennsylvania, is that it was done to establish a loss for tax purposes.

Quotations given by Parker, McElroy & Co., members, N. Y. Stock Exchange, 120 Broadway, New York City; branch office, Stuyvesant Hotel.

THE DAILY FREEMAN

SPORT SLANTS

By Alan J. Gould
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

The thing that Andy Kerr was happiest about after piloting his Colgate football team through a nine-game campaign without a defeat, tie or being scored on—which is absolute par on any gridiron—was the crowning brilliance and resourcefulness of a group of boys who looked like anything but football players when he first looked them over as freshmen four years ago.

"Why, six of the regulars who played virtually the entire game against Brown were on as unsuccessful a freshman team as I ever coached," admitted Andy. "They were all fine boys and pretty good students, but they didn't seem to get along very well on the gridiron. They wound up a disastrous season in their first year by being wallowed 54 to 0 by the Syracuse freshmen.

"I can say now, happily, that they have shown me they are the most responsive to coaching, the best team unit I have ever coached. The 1932 Colgate variety had greater man-power. There are other teams now with much better man-power, like Army, Notre Dame and Southern California, but I don't believe any of these teams has developed more resourcefulness than my boys."

Was Flexible Defense
Kerr is one of football's outstanding fundamentalists as well as a coach with a rare record of success at such schools as Pittsburgh, Stanford, Washington & Jefferson and Colgate.

Brought up at the feet of the old master, Pop Warner, whom he first met while Pop was coaching the Carlisle Indians, Kerr has standardized the Warner double wing-back system.

"We use it exclusively," says Andy, "because it best suits the type of game and type of material I coach. We use a standard defense, with six-man line, for all our opponents. I don't believe in shifting defensive systems. I believe the one we have is flexible enough. Our record this year certainly speaks for itself on that point."

First Unbeaten, Untied
Colgate has had many great teams, but this is the first to finish its season unbeaten and untied. Kerr's last unbeaten and untied aggregation was the Pittsburgh freshmen of 1921. He coached an unbeaten team at W. & J. in 1926, but it was held to a scoreless tie by Pittsburgh.

Not even in the palmy days of Elbert Huntington, Earl Abell, Belford West, "Doc" Anderson and Hank Gillo, all-American stars, was Colgate able to go through a season with a perfect record. A blocked punt by Dartmouth's famous Swede Youngstrom, bringing about a 7-7 tie, spoiled the victorious march of one of Colgate's greatest teams. Syracuse has been the jinx on other occasions.

PLANTHABER WINS IN FIRST TOURNEY GAME

Fred Planthaber, playing his first game in the Kaschik billiard tournament last night, lived up to the expectations of a large following when he defeated Kid Taylor 100 to 75 in the fastest and best played game of the tournament to date. Planthaber, playing carefully and consistently, soon piled up a large lead only to lose it when Taylor in three innings scored heavily to go in the lead by a few points. Then, Planthaber, flashing the form that makes him a favorite with many billiard fans, clinched the game with a run of 17. A fairly large and thoroughly appreciative gallery of fans witnessed the match, many times applauding the difficult shots played by each man.

Tonight, Julius Teller, present city title holder, will play his first game of the tournament against Bob East. The game is expected to be an interesting one to watch and the public is invited to witness it. The game will get under way at 8 o'clock.

Continue Boyd Case in Court

The action brought by Edythe W. Boyd as executrix against the Ulster County Savings Institution and Maude Hoyt, to determine the ownership of a joint bank account, before Justice John H. Loughran and a jury, in Supreme Court, was continued all day Tuesday and the trial was to be resumed when court convened at 10 o'clock this morning.

The examination of Mrs. Boyd, which occupied most of the morning session Tuesday, as continued when court reconvened at 10:30 and it was nearly four o'clock when Mrs. Boyd was permitted to leave the stand.

Following Mrs. Boyd, James J. O'Connor, treasurer of the Savings Institution, testified as to the bank account in question. The account had originally been in the name of Mary E. Whitney, but on May 23 was made a joint account, Maude Hoyt's name being added. Miss Whitney died on June 1. Joseph D. Hoyt, husband of the plaintiff, told of frequent visits he made to the Whitney home and as to Miss Whitney's condition as he observed it.

Dr. John M. Jacobus of Vassar Brothers Hospital, Poughkeepsie, who was a witness for the defense, was allowed to take the stand at this time. Alexander Dow, of counsel for the defense, questioned Dr. Jacobus as to some length regarding his knowledge of arterio sclerosis. The doctor stated that this condition of the arteries might normally be expected to show itself to a greater or less degree at from 60 to 65 years of age and might or might not affect mentality. He was not allowed to answer a long hypothetical question put to him by Attorney Dow. In answer to Judge Loughran's question as to whether or not he could answer with reasonable certainty, giving the information in the question as propounded, Dr. Jacobus said he didn't believe he could.

Flavius Dibbell, Phoenixia attorney, who drew Miss Whitney's will on April 22, told of the circumstances surrounding the drawing of the will as he remembered them, but his recollections as to many of the circumstances and of the persons present at the time was very indefinite. Other witnesses called by the plaintiff were Dr. Charles E. Quinn, Phoenixia physician, and Mrs. Ella Blakeslee, who told of a visit to the Whitney home in April.

86 PUPILS ENROLLED IN HIGH FALLS SCHOOL.

High Falls, Dec. 7.—There were 86 pupils enrolled in the High Falls school during the month. Notwithstanding the fact that one child was absent the entire month on account of illness, the per cent of attendance was 97.

The following were neither absent nor tardy for the month: Filomena DePilla, Mamie Grossman, Mae Tannenbaum, Ruth May, Jessie Quick, Margaret Schoonmaker, Florence Christiansa, Helen Dyer, Mae Griffin, Dorothy Ransom, Evelyn Schwartz, Margaret Sheeley, Robert Sutton, Mark Donnelly, Donald Burger, Albert Blakely, Kelton Jansen, Charles Burhans, Spencer Terwilliger, Americo Tenedini, Thomas Donnelly, Donald Briggs, Billy Briggs, Raymond DuBois, Nathan Halmowitz, Raymond Krom, Robert LaPolt, Frederick Quick, Clayton Sutton, John Van Kleeck, Harry Williams, John Sheeley, Delores Aers, Frances Barnhart, Delores Boucher, Florence Burhans, Gussie Grossman, Betty Haggerty, Evelyn May, Lois Parry, Esther Schwartz, Beatrice Tannenbaum, Marjorie Van Kleeck, Lucile Wells, Harold Countryman, Robert Countryman, John Fenerbach, Norman Grossman, George Jeffers, Edward Muller, Jr., Raymond Smith, Emanuel Sponder, Charles Stokes, Arnold Van Laer, Dennis Williams, Donald Williams, Celia Adams, Doris Mae Burhans, Virginia Coan, Nora Countryman, Geraldine Crispell, Dora Quick, Dorothy Tannenbaum, Ruth Williams, and Marion Sheeley.

The boys with the help of the janitor, Mr. Ghear, did a fine job cleaning up the lawn the past month.

Postmaster LeRoy Krom gave us a lovely large picture which is being framed for the new assembly room. All thank Mr. Krom very much for his gift.

Albert Krom, a former High Falls schoolboy, paid a visit last Friday. He interested the children in taking subscriptions to the "Farm Journal". The children are to keep half the money they collect for the school.

One Friday morning assembly program was taken by the primary room this month. Several of them told stories and one illustrated his with a blackboard drawing. Another Friday the intermediate room gave a "Book Week" program. Four children gave book reports. Another group read quotations about books they had gathered from various sources, and Carolyn Hazelmayer and Esther Schwartz gave original poems about books. Still another Friday the grammar room held a patriotic program in which stories of the World War were told. One pupil recited "In Flanders Field".

At present all are working hard on the Christmas program which is to be held December 22 at 7:30 o'clock in the new assembly room. An invitation is extended to all to come and enjoy Christmas with the youngsters.

Writers' Punctuation

The system of punctuation as we now use it was introduced by a Venetian printer, Aldus Manutius, in the latter part of the Fifteenth century. Little change has been found requisite. The modern points came into use gradually after the invention of printing, the comma, parenthesis, note of interrogation, and period being the earliest introduced, and the note of exclamation last.

WHY All Men Cannot Be Chased "Free and Equal"

All men are not created "free and equal" in so far as this expression refers merely to the political privileges of United States citizens. It may be both sound and useful. To read into it any broader meaning, however, would be objectionable to both social scientists and biologists. Modern man is certainly not free in the widest sense of the term. The innumerable things that go to make up the world are amazingly interdependent; man's behavior is constantly conditioned by his surroundings, by his experience, by the interests of other men, by the activities of innumerable other types of living organisms, by the nonliving materials and forces of his environment. Only by certain concessions and adjustments can man win for himself a modicum of freedom.

As for equality, save for identical twins, probably no two men have ever been created with just the same hereditary endowments. Our race is a grand mixture of hereditary qualities, some good and some bad. For the future of the race it is very important that those with desirable hereditary qualities have many offspring and that those with highly undesirable hereditary qualities have none at all.—Chicago Tribune.

Why California Farmers Owe Debt to Wild Geese

Birds played strange roles in a typical rye field in California last year. The first part the birds played was in early spring when a flight of geese fed on the young rye in an 800-acre tract and brought about what farmers thought was irreparable damage to the crop.

As matters turned out, however, the birds did no damage and possibly the pruning process of their feeding may have been a stimulant to the plants, for the rye at harvest stood shoulder high and was in excellent shape.

However, having reached this state, the grain was attacked by an enemy which threatened the entire crop. A great infestation of a caterpillar of the white-lined sphinx occurred and the crop seemed destined to almost complete loss through the activities of this voracious feeder. Again the birds stepped in, or perhaps it would be better to say flew in, to the rescue.—Washington Star.

Why Dust Is Harmful

Dust may look like so much dirt, but it has devastating powers. The government recently staged 12 experimental dust explosions at the testing station on the Department of Agriculture experimental farm at Arlington, Va., to demonstrate the deadly and destructive power of certain dusts.

These tests also demonstrated methods of protecting manufacturing plants against structural damage by releasing dust explosion pressures through properly proportioned vents worked out by the chemical engineering division of the bureau of chemistry and soils. Grain elevator dust, starch dust, milk powder, soap dust, sugar dust, wood dust, cork dust and other dusts were exploded in the experiments in a miniature "factory."

Why Called "Dunkers"

The members of the religious sect were called Dunkers or Dunkards from their baptismal practices, the word being derived from German "tunken," meaning to dip. They are also called Tunkers and Dippers. The sect was founded in 1708 at Schwarzenau, in Wittenstein, Germany, by Alexander Mack and is correctly known as the German Baptist Brethren or simply as the Brethren. There are now several branches of the Dunkers. The word from which the name of the sect is derived is the same as that from which "dunk," meaning to dip doughnuts into coffee before eating them, is derived.

Why Some Bees Are Queens

It now appears that the bees knew all about vitamins long before the latter became a matter of importance to scientists. Two British scientists have announced that the solution of the age-old problem of why some bees grow up to be queens and some to be workers is that the bees add the vitamin "E" to the jelly fed to prospective queens, while this vitamin is not included in the diet of the larvae that are destined to be workers. Moreover, worker larvae not more than three days old may be transformed into queens by a change of diet, they say.

Why Called "Witch Hazel"

The original and correct name of this shrub is "wyc'h hazel," the name being derived from Anglo-Saxon "wyc," meaning drooping. The similarity of the prefix to "witch" led people to believe that it was so named because divining or witching rods made from its twigs were reputed to be efficacious in discovering water and minerals. Thus "witch hazel" has come to be one of the accepted spellings of the name.

Why Launched Stern First

The practice of launching ships stern first is not universal. On the Great Lakes many of the launchings are side launchings while the United States navy has launched three ships bow first. In former days launchings were stern first and it is presumed that a superstition or tradition was the probable reason. In modern times there are several technical advantages in launching stern first.

THROUGH A Woman's Eyes

By JEAN NEWTON

NOT A TOTAL LOSS AFTER ALL!

"WE HAVE heard how the American woman dominates her men folk, how she runs the United States, how everything in America is made for, or surrendered to women. The American woman runs and rules the home. She contrives to get a great deal of material things out of life. She has got into her men folk the idea that she must be served first, last and always."

Isn't that lovely? Perhaps my readers will not recognize themselves in this glowing picture drawn by an Englishman. But he ought to know.

"All this," he goes on to say, "makes her discontented. And discontented because she does not know what it is she wants out of life. She proceeds to try to get more. Dissatisfied with her males who only serve her, she falls back on other females like herself. She joins women's clubs, organizes lecture tours for foreign celebrities, inaugurates bridge parties, literary societies, musical quibbles. She has a life absolutely apart from her husband."

"But," apparently eager to give the devil his due, our critic casually remarks, "These American women are not only thinking of themselves and their own fun. They help to get a man somewhere in life! They get behind their men with encouragement and help until he feels inspired to accomplish greater things."

I wonder whether the man who said all that realizes that the only part that really counts is that last little sentence: True or untrue his impression of the American woman, just or unjust his accusation of discontent, if he has correctly observed that we help our husbands to get somewhere, that we succeed in inspiring and helping our men to greater accomplishment, then he need say no more—or he can say anything else that he likes! © 1932, Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

Pets Hard to Raise

Chameleons are said to be hard to keep in captivity, some of them refusing all food during the winter. Their food consists of insects, meal worms, chopped meat and raw egg, with plenty of water in small low receptacles. In spite of all care, they are unlikely to live more than a few months in captivity.

WEST HURLEY

West Hurley, Dec. 7.—Sympathy is extended to Ernest Meyers, school teacher, on the loss by fire of his barn. Mr. Meyers was at his post here at the schoolhouse when the distressing news reached him.

Did those charred egg mailing boxes constitute a part of Mr. Fischer's cherished collection?

The appearance of the West Hurley M. E. Church has been greatly improved by painting and by widening the approaches. The latter will facilitate parking. The Ladies' Auxiliary will hold an all-day meeting, Thursday, December 8, at the home of Mrs. Kerr. All are cordially invited to attend.

The McAllister residence has been re-roofed during the current mild spell. The work was accomplished by T. McAllister and Millard Rowe.

The ice skating season was of very short duration. The chair, utilized by Master George Berry in the learning of the art, looks sort of forlorn out there on the thin ice. As yet, no way has been devised to rescue it.

Everett Hammond has returned to his home from the Kingston Hospital and is making rapid strides in recovering from his operation.

Mr. Lehr of John street was removed Thanksgiving Day to his home, after being confined in the Benedictine Hospital, where he underwent a major operation.

Dr. and Mrs. Oscher of New York city spent the holiday at the home of Mrs. Oscher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Saxe.

Aaron Stoutenburg is serving as a juror.

Mr. Lane has re-opened the West Hurley Garage located beside the general store.

The student body of the school and Mr. Meyers are grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Nussbaum for donating their spacious garage for the purpose of rehearsing the coming school entertainment.
